EARL - CIA
MADISON, WI

The CIA should be allowed to recruit on University of Wisconsin campuses if the spy agency fully discloses what it's all about, Gov. Anthony Earl says.

"I think there ought to be full disclosure as to what they are about, and they ought not operate under false cover as to what they are and what employment with them means," Earl said at a news conference Wednesday.

Asked who was at fault at a recent CIA recruiting effort at the UW-Madison in which campus police sprayed aerosol tear gas at demonstrators, Earl said he was not able to make a judgment.

"All I know ... are the newspaper accounts and depending on whose story you were reading the force was reasonable or excessive," Earl said. "I was not there and I am certainly in no position to judge."
